Laval, Québec — September 20, 2010 – Alimentation Couche-Tard Inc. ("Couche-Tard") today issued the following statement regarding the Casey's General Stores, Inc. ("Casey's") (Nasdaq: CASY) 2010 Annual Meeting of Shareholders scheduled to be held on September 23, 2010 and a recent report from Institutional Shareholder Services ("ISS").

The 2010 Annual Meeting of Shareholders of Casey's is only days away, but Casey's has failed to announce any concrete developments relating to 7-Eleven's non-binding, preliminary indication of interest conveyed to Casey's in a telephone call on September 2, 2010, unlike Couche-Tard's $38.50 per share firm, fully-financed, all-cash offer to acquire all of the outstanding shares of Casey's. As previously noted, the current difference in price between Couche-Tard's offer and 7-Eleven's non-binding, preliminary indication of interest is merely 4%. Yet, the Casey's Board has authorized discussions to explore a transaction with 7-Eleven while rejecting our request to be included in a full and fair process.

We believe that disclosure of 7-Eleven's preliminary, non-binding indication of interest is yet another attempt to obfuscate the choices that have been presented to the Casey's shareholders regarding the future of Casey's. In fact, Casey's today announced that it merely remains in discussions with 7-Eleven and confirmed that the outcome of its discussions with 7-Eleven will not be determined prior to the Annual Meeting. We, on behalf of the Casey's shareholders, challenge the Casey's Board and management to immediately disclose the terms and conditions of 7-Eleven's current proposal. In the face of this challenge, Casey's reluctance to disclose any such terms and conditions can only lead to the inference that Casey's disclosure of 7-Eleven's preliminary, non-binding indication of interest was a smokescreen designed by Casey's to obtain votes in favor of its incumbent directors by hinting at a potential transaction on the eve of the Annual Meeting without the intention of pursuing any transaction that would be contrary to promoting their self-interest.

As previously stated, if provided the opportunity to participate in a fair process, to meet and discuss the terms of a mutually satisfactory transaction with the Casey's management and to conduct a confirmatory due diligence review of Casey's, we would be willing to increase our offer price. Yet, the Casey's Board has refused, as confirmed by Casey's today, to delay the Annual Meeting until the conclusion of such a process so that the shareholders of Casey's have the opportunity to consider the results of the process. There is no guarantee that the Casey's

Board will fulfill its fiduciary obligations to you and maximize the value of the Casey's shareholders' investment in Casey's by conducting a full and fair process or even continuing to evaluate a transaction with 7-Eleven.

Furthermore, the recent press releases issued by Casey's are misleading and incomplete, as Casey's fails to note that, in fact, ISS, in its September 15, 2010 report, urged the Casey's shareholders to show discontent with the Casey's Board by recommending that the shareholders of Casey's withhold their votes from Casey's lead independent director William C. Kimball and executive committee member Kenneth H. Haynie. We are pleased that ISS made such a recommendation and confirmed that Couche-Tard's all-cash, fully-financed offer is the only formal offer that Casey's has received. We are also pleased that ISS endorsed Couche-Tard's request to delay the upcoming Annual Meeting by two to three weeks to allow Casey's to complete a full and fair sale process and report the results of such process to its shareholders prior to the Annual Meeting. As ISS notes, and we agree, shareholders of Casey's have had very little visibility with respect to the two competing bids involving a strategic transaction and Casey's has failed to provide a compelling reason in support of its decision not to delay the Annual Meeting until the shareholders of Casey's are able to gain better visibility.

In its September 15, 2010 report, ISS noted<sup>1</sup>:

“Several of the responses by the CASY board, however, raise questions about whether the board's defensive actions were designed entirely to protect shareholder value, rather than ensure independence regardless of how compelling an offer a bidder makes. In particular, we note the board's acceptance of a very expensive change-in-control provision in the debt instruments which funded the self-tender, despite the fact the company was already in play. We also question the board's decision to proceed with the scheduled annual meeting date despite the late emergence of a second bidder, and the fact shareholders currently have very little visibility into the rapidly-evolving dynamics of two bids for a strategic transaction.”

ISS has clearly recognized that the Casey's Board has taken a number of inappropriate defensive actions, which raise serious doubts about the motivation and incentives of the incumbent Casey's Board.

We believe that ISS' goal of ensuring a fair sale process would be best served by electing all eight of Couche-Tard's nominees to the Casey's Board at the Annual Meeting. Electing all of Couche-Tard's nominees will bring accountability and transparency to the Casey's Board. Couche-Tard's independent nominees are committed to maximizing value for all of the Casey's shareholders and, if elected, will do whatever is required to accomplish this goal. The shareholders of Casey's deserve a Board that is committed to maximizing the value of their investment in Casey's.

Couche-Tard urges the shareholders of Casey's to vote to elect its eight new, independent nominees to the Casey's Board by signing, dating and returning the BLUE proxy card. If the shareholders of Casey's have already returned or otherwise provided a white proxy card to Casey's, they may revoke that proxy by voting by telephone or via the Internet (instructions are on the BLUE proxy card) or by signing, dating and mailing a later-dated BLUE proxy card in the postage-paid envelope. Only the latest-dated proxy or a vote in person at the annual meeting will be counted.

If, however, the shareholders of Casey's do not support Couche-Tard's full slate of nominees, we urge the shareholders of Casey's to vote to elect at least three of Couche-Tard's nominees. Electing at least three of Couche-Tard's nominees will send a clear message to the Casey's Board that the shareholders of Casey's expect the Casey's Board to conduct a fair and full sale process designed to maximize value for all of the shareholders of Casey's and ultimately place the decision regarding the future of Casey's in the hands of the shareholders of Casey's.
